This bright and hopeful picture was utterly obliterated yesterday morning by the terrible act of which we have spoken. The nuptials were to have been celebrated at noon in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, on Locust street, above Sixteenth. The announcement was made some time since to the relatives and immediate friends on both sides, and extensive preparations had been going on to make the ceremonies as imposing as possible. Bridesmaids and groomsmen were selected; dressmakers of extreme tasteengaged tolend their aid to the occasion; joyous were the hearts of all who were to participate in the festivities, and the success of every undertaking toward the consummation of the long looked for event assured those interested that
